Mission: The FASD Now Alliance aims to have Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder recognized as the health crisis it is and marshal resources to combat it, diagnose it, and serve those who live with it in the state of California.

Membership: A cross-section of FASD experts, professionals, staff in key state agencies, legislators, families and self-advocates

FASD Now is a newly formed alliance in California with the common vision of seeing FASD recognized as the leading developmental disability in the state. With that recognition, we envision training of professionals in all relevant systems of care, reduction of FASD, development of diagnostic capacity across the state, and appropriate supports, and services for the individuals with FASD and their caregivers throughout their lifespan.
